News
Developments
Exchange Programs
Prospective Students
Alumni
Contact Us
Info

← →

● ● ●

What is Computer Science?

Computers and the Internet are having a great impact on human life and on society. Our lives, starting in the second half of the twentieth century, have become computerized "at the speed of light." We now live in times referred to as the computer age, the information age, or the Internet age. The Computer Engineering Department offers a unique opportunity for bright young minds to excel themselves in the areas of computer science, computer software, and computer hardware.

Read More

Our mission

To educate our students with state-of-the-art computer engineering knowledge that emphasizes both theoretical and practical aspects

To provide our students with the necessary computer engineering background that will enable them in finding jobs all over the world

To enrich our students with high moral and ethical values

To engage our students in social activities which will improve their leadership skills

Our Merits and Principles excellence in teaching and research loyality to ethical issues professional and dedicated working habits alert to technological changes

Our vision to develop research projects that will receive international recognition to engage our students in those projects that will enable them to find jobs easily all over the world